Students Offered Scholarships To World Exhibition

The Canadian government, represented by twenty-four men and twenty-four women students, will participate in the 1958 World Exhibition at Brussels.

Each province will be represented. These students will man the Exhibition, answer visitor's questions, and perform such duties as the Deputy Director may request.

Students to be selected must be native or naturalized Canadian students attending a recognized university in Canada and in their third or fourth year in the spring of 1958. They must be able to converse easily in both French and English; additional languages are optional but will count in the final selection of students.

The students should have an adequate knowledge of the history and geography of Canada. They should be personable, with friendly but not forward characteristics and must qualify with the rank of "B" or better in their previous year's examinations.

Those selected will begin work March 20, 1958 and will finish October 20, 1958. They will be paid $150 per month. Travelling expenses from Montreal to Brussels and back will be paid as well as their lodging and meals. While abroad, they will have two weeks holiday with pay.

Cash Dividends To Be Paid By CUS At Western Dance

The Freshman Reception festivities continue on Saturday night with the first football dance of the season. The event will be held under the auspices of the Commerce Undergraduate Society. Peter Monk, president of that body of canny financiers, has announced that cash dividends will be distributed in the course of the evening, in accordance with the best traditions of the C.U.S.

This adventure into high finance will take place in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium, commencing at 8:30 P.M. Decorations will be executed by Morgan's. Stan Bankley and his band have been engaged to provide the music. At some time from 10:30 P.M., to 11:00 P.M., a cascade of 400 balloons will be released from the ceiling; some of them will contain the cash dividends — $10 bills.

The dance will take place following the McGill-Western football game. A large group of Western students are expected to attend.

Admission to the affair is $1.00 per person.

A Tea Dance will be held in the Union Ballroom from 4:30 P.M. to 6:30 P.M. Mike Dodman and his orchestra will play at this dance. Admission is $0.50, the price of refreshments being included.

Dr. Roscoe Opens New R.V.C. Lounge

The third Women's Union Lounge on the campus was officially opened Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m. in R.V.C. Last May a redecorating job was started on the Lounge and only recently has it been completed. The result of the work and expense put into the Lounge is a comfortable, tastefully decorated room that will be an asset for McGill women.

The opening ceremony began with Denise Benzecar, president of the Women's Union, introducing Dr. Roscoe to the assembly of Science students and their professors. Dr. Roscoe remarked on the convenient location of the Lounge and on the effort and expense to which the Women's Union had gone in order to provide it. She proceeded to cut the ribbon, officially opening the new Lounge.

Following the ribbon-cutting ceremony, a tea was held in the Lounge for third and fourth year Science students and their professors. The informal gathering was part of a new policy of the Women's Union that the students might meet their professors on a more casual basis.

The Lounge is situated almost directly opposite the RVC cafeteria, convenient to both RVC and Montreal girls. From now on, it will be open to all McGill women, who are welcome to make use of it whenever they have an opportunity.

U. Of M. Film Society To Present "The River"

The University of Montreal film society will present a film produced by the well-known Jean Renoir, called "The River", at his bi-weekly presentation, Saturday, October the 5th., in the Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

"The River" may be called, without any doubt, Renoir's masterpiece. He has succeeded in rendering some of the mysterious greatness of India by the combined effort of photography, colour and story.

The admission for students is fifty cents and for the general public, seventy-five cents.

Governor-General Opens British Painting Exhibition

The Governor-General of Canada, Vincent Massey, officially opened the British 18th Century Painting Exhibition yesterday at 9 p.m. in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

The exhibition will remain on view until Nov. 3. It includes the largest collection of 18th century English painting ever sent to North America. After closing here, the collection will be shown in Ottawa, Toronto and Toledo, Ohio.

Many of the works to be exhibited here have been loaned by galleries, museums and private collectors throughout England, the United States and Canada. Four of the paintings were loaned by The Queen, who is patron of the exhibition.

John Steegman, director of the Museum here, predicted that the collection will "open the eyes of people in North America to the wide variety of Georgian painting. Many people here think it consists only of Hogarth and the kind of aristocratic portrait that Duveen used to sell so successfully. Far less widely-known are the landscape, the conversation piece and the modest middle-class kind of work."

An admission fee of 50 cents is charged for visitors to the exhibition, but members will be admitted free.

BISHOP NEILL ADDRESSES SCM FALL CONFERENCE

This coming weekend the S.C.M. is sponsoring a Fall Conference for McGill students at Foster, Que.

Bishop Stephen Neill, the speaker at the conference, is one of the really top Christian leaders and thinkers in the world today. A gifted preacher and a distinguished author, Bishop Neill is presently with the World Council of Churches in Geneva. His University mission at Toronto in 1949 drew 2,000 students to Convocation Hall for five nights.

CONFERENCE THEME

The theme of the conference will be "Christ the Conqueror". There will be four talks followed by discussion groups etc. Concerning the conference Bishop Neill has written: "I want to talk on the responsibility of the student to think, to face realities and not to be afraid of all that this involves... The church on the whole discourages university students from launching out into honest investigation."

It is not directed primarily to Christians, but is being held in the belief that all who are really concerned to think with open minds about Life and about World Problems, should, in the course of their study and thought, be given an opportunity of hearing and considering such insights and challenges as Christianity may have to offer them.

TRIP ARRANGEMENTS

Transportation for the conference will be by bus, leaving from the front of the Physical Sciences Centre at 6:30 p.m. Friday Oct. 4th. and returning on Sunday evening. Total cost is ten dollars per person. Registration forms and further information may be obtained at the S.C.M. House, 3625 Oxenden Ave., PL. 1156.

Bishop Neill will also lecture at McGill next week on the theme of "History and Myth in the Life of Jesus Christ". Invited to speak by the Faculty of Divinity, Rev. Neill's talk will be given in the auditorium at Divinity Hall on Monday, October 7th, at 5:00 p.m.

Soccermen Win 3-0, Meet RCAF Tomorrow

by SPENCER NADLER

Coach Brian Cleary marked his return to the soccer ranks Wednesday night by guiding the Red and White to a decisive 3-0 victory over Sir George Williams College.

Although the McGill squad only took part in three practice sessions prior to Wednesday's game, they frequently outran and out-manoeuvred their rivals.

Campbell opened the scoring for McGill midway through the first half climaxing a beautiful offensive effort by Mike Carpenter.

Campbell, an excellent opportunist, gave McGill a 2-0 lead by scoring his second goal of the evening as the first half came to a close.

Carpenter completed the scoring midway in the last half, deflecting a penalty shot past the Georgian goalie.

The Red and White will get another chance to continue their winning ways tomorrow when they meet the R.C.A.F. station from St. John, Quebec, in what promises to be a real thriller.

Elias, Carver, Zeberius, Dunlap and Lindo will be counted on heavily to carry the bulk of the load against the Airmen on Saturday. Lindo, who is the Redmen goalie, is highly rated by Cleary. Although he was not very busy Wednesday night, the few shots he was called upon to save were executed masterfully.

Kick-off time tomorrow morning is 10:30 at the upper field.

Changes Made As Indians Meet Bishop's In Opener

This Saturday the McGill Indians meet the Bishop's College squad in their first exhibition game of the season. The changes mentioned in the headline of this article are due to the notorious Flu Bug! Unfortunately about six of the Intermediate group will not make appearances on Saturday. One of these six is the second string Quarter-back Don McGruer.

Not too much was accomplished during the week due to the absence of certain key players. But much work was done on passing and pass defence. Coach Shorty Fairhead says that he has some good receivers in the back-field.

Yesterday the boys were put through a stiff workout. However, the team as it stood at that time is not the final edition, as more cuts are to be made. Comprising the team are a few hold-overs from last year. These are Levy, Hoppenheim and Tingley. Also one or two positions are to be filled by cuts from the Redmen, Shorty reported.

The Indians this year will be more active than in the past due to the fact that they will be playing in the Junior Q.R.F.U. League for the first time.

Coach Fairhead did not have any particular comment to make on the Bishop's team, but he did mention that they have always given the Indians a rough time in the past. Shorty ventured to say that Barry at right-half, Tingley at left-half and Levy at guard should look good in this Saturday's skirmish.

The Big Bad Corporation

The 21st Annual Report of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is out, and once again it appears that the Corporation has justified the faith put in by the Liberal Government which passed the Broadcasting Act of 1936. The CBC boasts this year of a very impressive programme schedule, and lists accomplishments which are both numerous and significant. For example, in competition with U.S. and British networks, the CBC won three of a possible seven firsts in radio and four of a possible seven firsts in TV. Honorable mentions went to five other CBC programs. This record exceeded that of any other network.

There is much criticism of the Corporation, for it is an easy kind of organization to criticize. It controls, for the Government, all broadcasting in the country, and it is frequently alleged that it has hindered the development of television and radio in the country, that perhaps private broadcasters could have done a better job. But the facts contradict this; both publicly and privately-owned stations working within the national system have developed TV coverage to a point where approximately 86 per cent of all Canadians are within range of a Canadian station. If one considers this country's vastness and its relatively scattered population, it will be realized that this is no mean accomplishment. Even the U.S., which had TV before we did, has not equalled our rate of TV development.

Its programming is generally excellent. It is difficult enough to be creative and entertaining in a worthwhile manner for about 18 radio each day and 10 TV broadcasting hours each day; it is even more difficult to be so when programming must be in two languages, when there are very many kinds of people who will absorb these mass-media. The CBC does its work well; often it is brilliant. It helps to make us a better and more unified nation. Let us not forget that it is valuable to us.

All's Well With The World

Anyone reading the public press these days could be forgiven for having a pessimistic view of the immediate future. Headlines blare "Another Tragic Era", the stock-market is declining, inflation threatens, Britain and France face financial crises, race tensions heighten, Asian flu creeps on, and Russian advantage in intercontinental missiles looms over the free world.

All in all things are looking very black.

We noticed a few rays of hope however. A week ago classes and downtown offices were rather thinly populated; it was the Jewish High holidays, obviously many people must still be religious. Today, classes and offices are again on the losing end — another world series is on.

The world series is an American institution which has a quality of drawing people together. It is becoming of international interest too, for it has brought on the first international stargazers competition—the British astronomer has picked the Yankees, his U.S. counterpart, the Braves. It's a pity we can't get the Reds to take up the game; though on second thoughts perhaps better not, for baseball is so volatile. Such a series may bring about missile warfare on a smaller scale.

What we want to say is that we are glad that people can still be religious and still be irrational enough to give such prominence to a world series in the face of the apparent ominous world problems. Besides there can't really be any cause for alarm; Ike's still smiling in Washington, all must be well with the world.

Regulations Announced For '58 Rhodes Scholarships

A Rhodes Scholarship, tenable at the University of Oxford, is available to male students graduating this year, and may be held for three years.

Scholarships for 1958 are allotted in Canada as follows: Two Scholarships each to Ontario, Quebec. One Scholarship each to Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan.

CONDITIONS FOR ELIGIBILITY

- (1) A candidate must be a male Canadian citizen or British subject with at least five years' residence, completed by October 1st, 1957, and with the intention of permanent residence in Canada. He must be unmarried. A Rhodes Scholarship is forfeited by marriage after election.
- (2) A candidate must have passed his 19th, and not have passed his 25th birthday by October 1st, 1958.
- (3) He must have completed two years of study at a University in Canada by October 1st, 1958.
- (4) A candidate may compete either in the Province in which he has his ordinary private home or residence, or in the Province in which he has taken his University course. A resident of the North-West Territories will have only the latter alternative. A resident of Prince Edward Island will have the latter alternative unless his University course has been taken in Prince Edward Island, in which case he should apply in either Nova Scotia or New Brunswick. No resident in a Province other than Newfoundland may apply for a Newfoundland Scholarship on the grounds of a University course taken there.

For each Province there is a Selection Committee, which will be responsible, subject to ratification by the Rhodes Trustees, for deciding whether candidates comply with the foregoing conditions, and for making the nominations.

VALUE OF SCHOLARSHIP

The value of a Rhodes Scholarship is £600 per year. This stipend should be sufficient to enable a scholar, with care, to meet his necessary expenses for termtime and vacations, but those who can afford to supplement it to a modest extent from their own resources are advised to do so. Cost of travel must be borne by the Scholar.

BASIS OF SELECTION

In making nominations, Committees will have regard to the qualities laid down by Mr. Rhodes in that section of the Will in which he defined the general type of scholar he desired;

- (1) Literary and scholastic attainments;
- (2) Qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship;
- (3) Exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his fellows;
- (4) Physical vigour, as shown by fondness for and success in outdoor sports.

Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect or character, or in a combination of these, is the most important requirement, for a Rhodes Scholar should not be a one-sided man; thus special distinction of intellect should be founded upon sound character, and special quality of character upon sound intellect. Success in being elected to office in student organizations may or may not be evidence for leadership in the true sense of the word. Mr. Rhodes evidently regarded leadership as consisting in moral courage and in interest in one's fellow-men quite as much as in the more aggressive qualities. Physical vigour is an essential qualification for a Rhodes Scholarship, but athletic prowess is of less importance than the moral qualities developed in playing outdoor games. Poverty does not give a special claim to a Scholarship. In the absence of a sufficiently qualified candidate the Committee will make no appointment.

CCCL Backs Federal Aid To Colleges

QUEBEC, Sept. 25 — Delegates attending the 36th annual convention of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor yesterday gave a vote of approval to a brief in support of Federal aid to universities.

The brief, prepared by the executive of the CCCL, was sent to Ottawa earlier this year.

But before the vote of approval was given the brief, Rene Belanger, delegate of the Quebec Municipal Employees Syndicate, asked the CCCL to reverse its stand. He said the executive acted without approval of the congress and without adequate consultation with CCCL members.

Yvan A. Legault of Montreal asked that the delegates support the stand taken by the executive.

He said Mr. Belanger knew the question of university aid had been discussed at length before the CCCL placed its official view in the brief to the Federal Government.

"We were not alone in favoring Federal aid to universities at the time," Mr. Legault remarked, "but many who agreed with our view have since changed their minds."

"Everyone knows that the rectors of our universities were subjected to blackmail and humiliated in the respect."

Quebec province universities rejected Federal aid this year as they have done every year except 1952 when the grants program was inaugurated.

SEC Financial Report For '56-'57 Shows Balance Of $21,414.97

A report of the Students' Society Budget for the 1956-57 session was presented at the Students' Executive Council at their meeting held Tuesday night. The year's results showed careful and well-organized budgeting program on the part of the executives of the various clubs on campus.

The year started with a balance of $11,288.00 from the 1956 session. The sum of $46,721.87 was collected by means of society fees, interest on the 1956 balance, and blazer profits. The total anonymous donations received amounted to $15,000.00. After allotting approximately $4,000.00 to various specified expenses, the unappropriated anonymous donations totaled $10,846.96. The total expenses of the year were $47,881.36 causing a deficit; of roughly $900.00. This amount was deducted from the unappropriated anonymous donations, leaving an excess of revenue, for the complete year, of $10,126.96. Thus the total balance at the close of the session amounted to $21,414.97.

Budget Greatly Improved

In contrast, the 1955-56 expenditures amounted to $65,313.15, although the total revenue, including all anonymous donations, totalled only $64,893.77, causing a deficit of $419.38 at the close of the season.

Also discussed during the SEC meeting were the meeting-places and dates of the WUS Conference and NFCUS Conference. The former is to take place at Fredericton, N.B., from October 10th until Oct. 13th. The two delegates chosen to report on the WUS Conference Seminar are Messrs. Don Johnston and Vito Volterra. The University of Montreal was the site of last year's seminar.

The NFCUS Conference is to be held at Quebec City from October 14th to October 18th. Louis Donolo, President of the Students' Society; and Stuart Smith, President of the McGill Students' Union, will attend the conference as observers as McGill is no longer a member of NFCUS.

Toronto Week-end

The SEC announced that the Students' Athletic Society has extended the invitation for Louis Donolo and Wilfred Hastings, Secretary-Treasurer of Students' Society to spend the McGill-Toronto Week-end in Toronto from October 11th to October 13th. The invitation will be returned for the McGill-Toronto Week-end scheduled for early November.

SEC Office Expanding

It was decided by the Students' Executive Council that a third person will be employed shortly to work in the outer office of the McGill Union. The employee, preferably a woman, will fill the position of cashier receptionist. Interviews for this position will commence next week. Students desiring information will no longer find it necessary to enter the SEC office, but may ask questions at the wicket, therefore preventing interruptions in the office routine.

B. C. Gardner Looks Back

"... and, Oh! yes, I had to kiss the Queen every year," chuckled Bertie Charles Gardner, reminiscing on some of the lighter aspects highlighting his five years as Chancellor of McGill. "As a matter of fact," he continued, "one year, a student near me just came right out and said, 'If the Chancellor can kiss the Queen, I can too.' And, by golly, he proceeded to do just that!" The 'Queen' referred to is, of course, McGill's elected contribution to royalty, and Mr. Gardner regards the student body as being excellent judges. "Bright and healthy-looking is the only way to describe them," he said, and added that he hardly blamed the exuberant young man for this action.

Another of Ex-Chancellor Gardner's more pleasant functions was the introduction of honorary graduates at luncheons, "pleasant because they were so relaxed," and the presentation of diplomas at Convocation. Again at the graduation exercises, Mr. Gardner was struck by the erect carriage and bright enthusiasm of the female graduates. "The boys have a much more sober outlook on life," he noted, and found this consistently reflected in their carriage at the convocations over which he presided.

"There is something about being neat in appearance that is so impressive in younger people. The way students dress now is very different from years ago. Nowadays it seems that almost anything goes." This modern casualness of dress is also present in the business world. "When I was a boy," Mr. Gardner recalled, "I regularly wore starched cuffs, shirt front, and collars to work. Nowadays the accent is on comfort."

The former President and Board Chairman of the Bank of Montreal went on to criticize conformity in the youth of today, but stopped himself, saying that "it's a sure sign of old age when we start to criticize the young." He also reflected that there was probably just as much conformity in his day, but it was well-concealed. People all acted in more or less the same way, but somehow they didn't do things because "well, everybody else does it."

Among the Chancellor's most important functions are presiding over the monthly meetings of the Board of Governors, and over the meetings of the Executive Council, where matters of policy are thrashed out. He also sits on selection committees for the teaching staff and scholarship awards.

Mr. B.C. Gardner's retirement from the post of Chancellor of McGill was announced last spring, and according to him, one of the accomplishments of which he is proudest occurred right at the end of his five-year period as Chancellor. "I was so delighted to get my good friend R. E. Powell to take on the Chancellor's job. He's a first-class fellow in every way."

Not a university man himself, Mr. Gardner was deeply honored on being invited to become Chancellor of McGill. He presented his inaugural address at Convocation on October 6, 1952 and received an honorary degree at this Founder's Day Convocation five years ago. "I guess I got my 'education' at the wrong end of my life," he said, smiling.

Jovial and keen, the present President of the British Newfoundland Corporation celebrated his 53rd anniversary in banking before he retired from the Board Chairmanship of the Bank of Montreal in 1954. He became a Junior in the Stuckey Bank in England at the age of 17 and came to Canada in 1906, where he became Manager of the British North America Bank in Trail, British Columbia. It was when this bank was taken over by the Bank of Montreal that his association with the organization began, and from there he progressed to the positions of Inspector, Superintendent, Assistant General Manager, General Manager, President and Chairman of the Board.

Contending that a university education, even today, is not the absolute necessity which most people think it is, Mr. Gardner firmly held that "if a man goes into any business which is not of a too-technical nature, and if he combines with practical experience a great deal of home study, I think he can get an education and get somewhere in that business too."

WHY NO FOOTBALL TITLES ?

It's been a long cold couple of decades since students at McGill University have been able to boast of having the best darn college football team in Canada. This year may prove to be no different from the last twenty, but even the most 'diehard' Toronto, Queen's or Western rooster must admit that the Redmen will be smack in the running for all the marbles this fall.

Rather than wander smugly into a lengthy discourse about the exploits of Larry Sullivan's highly touted backfielders or battle-hardened linemen, let's take a long, hard look at one ingredient required by a winner, which at McGill is more or less non-existent. That is the wild and almost fanatic brand of student body support for a school's beloved ball team found on many American campuses and very definitely on the college lawns at Queen's, Western and Toronto, our three arch rivals.

Assuming that the four teams in the Intercollegiate league start a season with evenly balanced squads, the Redmen immediately find themselves to be the one crew behind the eight ball due to an insufficient fan following. Statistics prove that in all competitive sporting events the team having the most enthusiastic support has all the odds in its favour provided that the ability is there.

It must have been discouraging, to say the least, to Carr, Bennett, Yuska and the rest of the gang to find that in Molson Stadium on many occasions in the past year or two the opposition's stands were noisier than those of the home team. Players may have the 'old desire to win for the Alma Mater' at the opening kick-off, but if we, the students, care little for 'dear old McGill', that desire will go merrily down the drain in no time.

NOW IT'S UP TO US !

Take it as you will. I'm putting the student body at large, myself included, on the spot right here and now. If you or I want to sit home Saturday afternoon and watch the Alouettes methodically mow down the opposition on television that's our business. But if we all do the same, the McGill Redmen won't win anything worth writing home about, no matter how good they look on paper.

Meet The Redmen Coaches

ROCKY ROBILLARD
... Backfield Coach

Rocky is an Ottawa boy who came up through McGill's athletic ranks and was appointed to the staff of the Department of Athletics when he graduated from the School of Physical Education in 1950. The "Rock" was an outstanding football and hockey player, and served as captain of both these teams at McGill. This is Rocky's seventh year on the Red and White coaching staff. Rocky is also head coach of the Redmen hockey team.

LARRY SULLIVAN
... Head Coach

Coach Larry Sullivan has a very impressive background in football. He served for six years as a high school coach and athletic director in Hamilton, Ontario, where he built up an outstanding record. Larry, who comes from Brockton, Massachusetts, played on the Notre Dame varsity team in '40, '41, '42, and then served with the United States Marines from 1942 to 1946. This is Larry's fourth year as Head Football coach at McGill.

RAY CICIA
... Line Coach

The job of coaching the Redmen line this year is in the capable hands of Ray Cicia, "the Little Flower". Ray came to Montreal by way of Ansonia, Connecticut, where he was born, and Wake Forest College where he played ball under Doug Walker, present coach of the Montreal Alouettes. He played for the Als for six years, making the All Star team in four of these. Ray has now settled down permanently in Montreal.

McGill And Western Set To Play Opener

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 pm the McGill Redmen square off against the Western Mustangs in their season opener at Molson Stadium. Last year these two teams finished in third and last place respectively in the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union, but this fall both squads have their sights aimed at nothing less than the top.

The claims of both outfits deserve consideration on the basis of their pre-season displays thus far. Last Saturday in Kingston, Larry Sullivan's Redmen soundly whipped the defending champion Queen's Golden Gaels by a 23-0 count.

However Johnny Metras' boys from London were even more convincing as they poured it on to submerge the OAC Aggies 46-0.

Sullivan's Offensive Team Feared By Metras' Squad

Pictured on this page is the entire squad of the McGill Redmen football team — 1957 edition — with only two exceptions. Unfortunately pictures of Sam Yuska, an All Star end last year, and center Louis Arsenault were unavailable at press time. On the top half of the page is the first string 'T' formation offense from which the Redmen usually operate.

The success of this setup depends greatly upon two players. These are veteran quarterback Dick Carr and the highly rated, new halfback Carl Hansen. — Western, watch out!

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways:

Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world.

We lean to the latter interpretation.

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark.

RECIPE FOR MUD

Mud pies and oil wells have one thing in common—mud.

If Suzy tries to bake her pie it either gets hard or crumbles. The same thing can happen to drilling muds which are used to lubricate bits and to carry away rock cuttings.

The deeper you drill, the hotter it gets, the greater the pressure. Three to four miles down into the earth, temperatures often exceed 400°—twice that of boiling water. In such heat, drilling muds used to break down, solidify. Drilling stopped—wells had to be abandoned.

Mobil scientists worked years on the problem—part of the company's $1.5 million-a-month research program. Now the answer—a mud that stays muddy at higher temperatures and greater pressures than ever before.

This Mobil Recipe for Mud made it possible to complete the world's deepest well—four and a quarter miles, enabling America's oil men to tap heretofore inaccessible petroleum.

Chemical research is only one of many professions represented on the world-wide roster of Mobil personnel. We also employ nuclear physicists, geologists, mathematicians, engineers of every type, marketing analysts, marketers . . . people prepared to handle more than 100 different positions.

If you qualify, the Mobil companies offer you an opportunity to build a career through training that will utilize your talents to the fullest . . . constantly challenge your ingenuity . . . reward you with a lifetime of richly satisfying work.
